

Playground for Bak Roteh Primary School – Battambang, Cambodia

In 2012 we supported the Bak Roteh with a new school building as the former learning environment was very poor. After working closely with the community, we decided to build a playground for the Primary School students.

When the truck with the playground material arrives the students can hardly wait to start playing and also wanted to help building the new playground.

Playgrounds are an important educational tool that improves the children's physical and mental health, in particular during the earlier part of childhood.

Hands-on approach – community members were also helping a lot

A boy takes his first careful steps on the new playground. Thank you!
